A. I didn't recall specifically when you asked that question, but having reviewed exhibit 14 when you handed it to me, I did recall seeing a schedule in the back of that that actually reflected both the February 8th date and the February 16th date. Do you have any understanding about whether or not the APA addresses the $112 million associated with the KCD royalties as reflected on slide 1 of exhibit 14?  A. I can't recall a specific reference to these royalty payments. Q. Are you aware of any analysis strike that. What is the outside date by which a sale to ESL must close? MR. FRIEDMANN: Object to form. A. I can't be certain. I believe it is January 18th. Q. Did you mean February? A. Sorry, February 16th or 18th, around that general time frame. Q. The exact date would be addressed by the APA; is that correct?	AEBERSOLD - HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL you aware of any analysis that anyone at the debtors has performed about the impact in terms of the additional cost to the estates if there is a delay in closing beyond February 8th until the last date of close, or the last potential date of close under the APA? As of January 6, I believe the operative bid was the bid that had been submitted by the December 28th bid deadline. And as you indicate, that bid did not seek to acquire as many assets as the bid currently in front of the court, correct?  MR. FRIEDMANN: Object to form.  A. That sounds right. Whether or not the only bid at that point in time was the December 28th and if there had been updates and discussions I'm not sure of, but what you're saying is generally the case.

Can you tell me what you recall about the concept of a backstop by ESL to address potential shortfalls with respect to administrative solvency?  A. Sure. I think the notion was that, based on our calculations, the bid as of January 6th, and where the ESL bid stood at that time, when analyzed, showed that the shortfall, similar to the calculation that we showed in that prior presentation which I think value required may have been the line, I think at this point in time what this is referring to is that was the shortfall at that period of time. I know the two that I mentioned in the previous answer, those are not being left with the estate.  Q. The real estate and the accounts receivable?  A. The bulk of. There are some that are being left behind. But the bulk are being taken as part of the bid.  Q. The next sentence states that "The committee discussed that successfully monetizing the unencumbered assets would likely require some time and numerous separate transactions."  Do you recall any specific discussion?  A. Not the specifics. I do remember in the two items I mentioned before in terms of these parcels of real estate
